CKS Building Services Has been our go to control contractor for the past 5 years. Chris Stevens and his team have helped Hurley Company complete many projects on time no matter how complex or time sensitive they maybe. Chris's ability to evaluate the project and give us a good understanding of what his control needs and tasks will be necessary to complete the job gives us the advantage and confidence to take on any project. Mechanical contractors can install the most complex equipment and fabricate the most intricate piping systems, insulate and paint to create and eye catching job, but if the controls are not properly installed and programed the client is not getting what they have contracted for and we have an unhappy customer. We do not have that worry with CKS on our Team.
